The Inspiration: Tonal Woven Weave

The Aesthetic: Ruskin by Patty Madden draws inspiration from the quiet beauty of woven textiles, where fine threads intersect to create an intricate, tactile surface. Delicate horizontal and vertical lines overlap in a relaxed crosshatch, their subtle tonal variations suggesting the warmth and irregularity of fibres worked by hand. A dream to accessorize, Ruskin's softly layered texture brings depth and a sense of craft to a wall without overwhelming the space. A versatile performance wallcovering, Ruskin offers a refined backdrop for contemporary, transitional and traditional interiors.
